Mrs. Collins of Biltmore Apt., Nelson Pl & High St., Newark, conducted a high class rooming house corner Broad & Campbell Sts. during time Mrs. Gibson operated at 34 Campbell St. Recognized Mrs. Gibson's picture and stated she lived at 34 Campbell St. with man named Sergeant and was known as "Olive" - last name unknown. The house was always a disorderly one.

Hugo Sipple conducts hardware store at 39 Market St.; owned a house 2 doors from 34 Campbell St. and live there. Remembered name Janette Hilton but didn't recall anything about the house except that it was a disorderly resort. He did not recognize Mrs. Gibson's picture.

Jim Connorton, former district leader, now Chief Electrician of Newark, does not remember the subject but says people in that house were always coming and going.

George V. Goehring, blacksmith, 118 Academy St., could not recall name of people at 34 Campbell St., but photograph of Mrs. Gibson looks familiar. He believes short dark woman lived at house with a man who never worked, but sat on stoop while woman went out, picked up men and brought them to house for purpose of prostitution. He said there were always new faces at the house, which was known to be disorderly. It was the scene
